

The Shift

The shift is here, the change has begun
So much to do before life is done
We shift jobs, people, homes and position
But this 2020 shift is enveloped in petition.

For a virus crept in and hit at the core
So deadly you hear, 'just how much more?'
Need medicine, food and the now famous toilet roll
But what of the antidote for the soul?

We look to government to do what's right
And to scientists on this virus to shed new light
To the banker investments not to lose
And Psychologists and pastors to help with The Blues.

We've shifted from outside to the inside
Social activity curbed; much sadness at being denied
Speaking, what palaver; we're muzzled by a mask
Financially constrained; now many must ask.

So, what is the shift that God is conveying?
A Mindset shift to salvation; now nations are praying
Suddenly we reflect on who we really are
Body, soul and spirit; though for some that's too far!

The world is shifting; the world must bow
For God is speaking, oh heed His voice now
The shift is to live with God and eternity in mind
Then true joy you'll help others to find.
